

SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS, BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND ACCOUNTING

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS Institute of Economic Research

GRADUATE PROGRAM IN ECONOMICS – ACADEMIC MASTER

SELECTIVE PROCESS – 2022

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT 07/2021

The Graduate Committee of the Economics Department at FEA-USP publicly announces the call for registrations for the selective process of the Academic Master Program in Economics starting in 2022.

1. Registrations

1.1 Registration shall be made exclusively by means of the National Selection Examination of ANPEC – 2022.

1.2 Registration and detailed information on the Examinations may be obtained in the link: <http://www.anpec.org.br/novosite/br/exame>

1.3 The Program will offer up to 25 places, which may not all be filled.

2. The Selective Process

2.1 The selection process for the Academic Master Program in Economics at FEA-USP is carried out by the Coordination Committee of the Graduate Program in Economics, and it is based on the results of the National Selection Examination of ANPEC (Brazilian Association of Graduate Programs in Economics).

2.2 ANPEC applies the National Selection Examination every year to applicants for master programs in Economics offered by the Associated Centers. The Examination aims to assess applicants' academic qualifications and report the evaluation results to the Centers. It is worth mentioning that the ANPEC Examination solely classifies the applicants (it is not a vestibular, in the sense of approving or failing).

2.3 The weights attributed by the FEA/USP to ANPEC Examination subjects are the following:

Microeconomics Test – 25%

Macroeconomics Test – 25%

Statistics Test – 25%

Mathematics Test – 25%

Brazilian Economy Test (objective) – 0%

Brazilian Economy Test (discursive) – 0%

2.4 The minimum score to be approved in the Partial Result (RP, in Portuguese) of ANPEC Examination for the Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Statistics and Mathematics Tests combined is 5 (five). The weight of each test is 25%, in the computation of the combined score.

2.5 Students with a score not lower than 80% of the maximum possible grade in the ANPEC English Examination are approved for English language proficiency. The Program will accept examinations like TOEFL, IELTS, Cambridge, Michigan, and Language Center at FFLCH-USP since they are taken within 3 (three) years before the registration date of the proficiency examination applied by the Program.

3. Enrollment

3.1 The enrollment in the Master Program in Economics is conditioned to the delivery of the following documentation copies (either certified or along with the original document):

- a) Birth or Marriage certificate;
- b) Voter identification Card;
- c) Military reservist certificate (for male applicants);
- d) CPF (Cadastro de Pessoa Física – Natural Persons Register);
- e) Identity Card;
- f) Diploma (front and back) or certificate of conclusion with the degree award date granted by an officially recognized undergraduate course;
- g) Undergraduate course transcripts; and
- h) A 3X4 photo recently taken.

3.2 Foreign applicants: In addition to the copies of the Graduate Diploma or certificate of conclusion, they must present upon enrollment, the following original documents:

- a) Original Diploma with the consular visa;
- b) Protocol of the National Registration of Foreigners (RNE), to be processed at the Federal Police, in time to perform the first enrollment;
- c) Passport with the student visa granted;
- d) A 3X4 photo recently taken;

3.3 The accepted candidate may provide a letter of authorization for a third person to perform the enrollment process, except for foreign candidates.

4. Final Statements

4.1 The applicant's registration implies his/her acceptance of the rules and instructions of the selection process contained herein and, in notifications, already issued or publicly announced during the process.

4.2 The Coordination Committee of the Program in Economics hold the right of not filling all the places offered herein.

4.3 The Master's Degree in Economics at FEA/USP is a stricto sensu Graduate Program and requires full-time and exclusive dedication.

4.4 The Master's Degree in Economics at FEA/USP is a free-of-charge course, and the classes are developed in the morning and/or afternoons from Monday to Friday.

4.5 The scholarship quotas of the Program shall be assigned to accepted students strictly following the classification in the selective process.

Published in the DOE 06/15/2021